Zuhoski, '64, POW

An alumnus reported missing in Viet Nam nearly three years ago was recently listed as a North Vietnamese prisoner of war by a New York group known as the Liaison Committee.

Navy Lt. Charles P. Zuhoski, '64, was flying over Hung Yen on July 31, 1967. Others on the mission reported Zuhoski received a direct hit from enemy fire, that his plane went down and he was not seen to bail out.

Zuhoski attended the Navy's Officers Candidate School following graduation from Rensselaer. After flight training in Pensacola, Fla., he was shipped to San Francisco for aircraft carrier training in May, 1967. While on the West Coast he met his future wife, Patricia Highley. About ten days after their wedding he was shipped to Viet Nam; it was not long after his arrival there that he was shot down.

Three months ago, in late March, Zuhoski's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Peter Zuhoski of Riverhead, Long Island, received word from the Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen Detained in North Viet Nam that their son was being held prisoner in the north. It was the first encouraging word the Zuhoskis and their son's wife, Patricia, have heard.

He studied flight, but his calling came from higher up

Henry H. Tompkins, '49, holds bachelor's and master's degrees in aeronautical engineering from Rensselaer. He now has, in addition, a doctorate in religion.

In a letter to the News, Dr. Tompkins makes an interesting comparison between his studies at Rensselaer and his new profession, and provides some inspiration for the university as well as its alumni. That which follows is from the letter.

"The major change in my life, reflected in this letterhead, was my graduation in June from the School of Theology at Claremont with the degree Doctor of Religion. The four years spent at granted a sabbatical leave from Mohawk Valley Community College for the 1970 spring quarter, Utica, N.Y.

Dr. Bronk's Statement

Richard C. DiPrima; Sergei P. Dobrovolsky; Paul M. DeRusso; George H. Handleman; Edward Jontos; Robert Resnick; George N. Sandor; Robert L. Strong; Peter C. Wayner; Graham Williams; Dwight E. Wilson.

Student Council: Maxine Crowther; Michael Current; George Gross; Thomas Jensen; Lynn Laxton; Marek Lewanda; Jeffrey Melnikoff; Joel Rosenberg; James J. Smith; Michael West.

Alumni Council: Messrs. Charles H. Dauchy '37; Andrew R. Ewing '53; H. Erwin Hale '30; Cecil L. Wilder '33.

The members of the several committees chose the following to sit with the parent committee known as the Committee on Selection of a New President and chaired by Mr. Cogswell: Professors: Dale S. Beach; George H. Handleman; Richard C. DiPrima; Peter C. Wayner.

Students: Michael Current; Marek Lewanda, James J. Smith.

Alumni: Messrs. Adolf H. Beil '66; William P. Headden '29; John T. Horton '52.

During the succeeding two years, the Committee met sixteen times, considered more than two hundred possible candidates who had been suggested by many trustees, faculty, students, and alumni. Of these, fifteen were interviewed by the Committee or individual members thereof.

"During February the Chairman of the Board presented a letter from President Folsom in which he said: 'I believe it best for me to submit my formal resignation as President and Director of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute effective as of 1 July 1971 in consideration of personal matters and of the best procedure to aid Rensselaer's short and long time development.' The Board reluctantly acceded to President Folsom's request.

"President Folsom's desire to retire in June 1971 rather than 1972 emphasized the necessity for prompt consideration by the Board of the report by the Cogswell Committee to be made at this April meeting.

"The Chairman of the Board had been persuaded to continue in office beyond the statutory age for retirement because of his loyalty to President Folsom and their long association. As a condition for doing so, the Chairman stipulated that his successor be nominated at the October 1970 meeting of the Board with the understanding that the Chairman Designate assume the duties of Chairman at the time of President Folsom's retirement. The Chairman further stipulated that the Chairman Designate, Donald Sturges, lead the Board in choosing the Presidential Successor and represent the Board in the final negotiations leading to his election. It was recognized that this would insure smooth transition of administration and strong, sympathetic support of the new President by the new Chairman of the Board who will necessarily have an important role during the early years of the new administration.

"As an appropriate step in the democratic selection of President Folsom's successor, it will be desirable to bring to the campus under dignified conditions those potential candidates most highly recommended to the Board by the Presidential Selection Committee.

"Having had unanimous recommendations from the Presidential Selection Committee that comprised representatives of faculty, students, and alumni, the Board of Trustees has ultimate responsibility for the selection and election of the President and Director of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. In association with faculty, alumni, and students, the trustees have further heavy obligations to give him counsel, advice and assistance during the critical time of transition which will also be a time of unique opportunities in the further development of Rensselaer."

civil engineering senior William L. Cottrell, for outstanding ability in his academic work.

The Class of 1902 Research Prize was presented to George A. Goldstein, for the best thesis involving research.

The Ricketts Prizes for outstanding academic achievements, were presented to Richard C. Nible in aeronautical engineering; Clare R. Allshouse in architecture; Philip T. Woodrow in chemical engineering; John L. Brown and William J. Premerlani in electrical engineering, and James F. Lambros in mechanical engineering.

The American Institute of Architects Medal for outstanding scholarship, personality and professional promise was awarded to David R. Wieboldt.

The Ray Palmer Baker Prize for outstanding academic achievement was presented to Charles A. Lapp.

The William Pitt Mason Prize for outstanding academic achievement went to Peter J. Todd.

The Caird Prize, for outstanding ability in environmental engineering, to Michael T. Keenan.

The Wynant James Williams Prize in Electrical Engineering, for outstanding scholarship, to William C. Mihal, Jr.

The Thomas Archibald Bedford Prize, for high scholastic ability in civil engineering, to Herman D. Rogers, Jr.

The Arthur M. Greene Prize, for the outstanding senior in mechanical engineering, to Andrew H. White.

The Harold N. Trevett Award, for outstanding scholarship in electrical engineering, to Steven L. Comee.

The Erik Jonsson Prize, to a senior who has spent at least three years at RPI and has achieved the highest academic record in his class, to Cherie A. Gossett.

The Joseph L. Rosenholtz Prize, for outstanding work in earth sciences, to Harry N. Tyler.

The John and Mary Cloke Prize, to an outstanding senior continuing in graduate work, to James F. Roetzer.

The Livingston W. Houston Citizenship Award, to the "First Citizen of the College," to Gerardo B. Manrique.

The W. Franklin Spafford Prize, to a graduate student in the field of management for high scholastic ability, to Richard H. Paczkowski.

Following the announcement of honors by Ira E. Harrod, Dean of Students and the singing of the Alma Mater, the benediction, given by Rev. George Borthwick, Pastor, Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, Troy, concluded the ceremonies.

Immediately after commencement, senior class luncheons were held, followed by the two-day June alumni reunion. Reunion weekend highlights included the presentation of the Distinguished Service Award to Clarence E. Davies '14, the naming of Demers Medal winners and the election of alumni officers and directors.

'50 Chris A. Christopher — appointed vice president, Federal Systems for the Univac Division of Sperry Rand Corp. B.C. Clarkson — appointed corporate secretary of Enjay Chemical Co., N.J. Richard C. Baynes — will assume the position of vice president of copper and brass sales and marketing, Revere Copper and Brass Incorporated. Timothy M. Maloney — appointed project engineer, Projects Engineering Operation, GE. E. Richard Morse — named director of industrial relations, communications division, Bendix Corp., Towson, N.J. Harry G. Saddock — promoted to division superintendent of electric systems production and planning, Rochester Gas & Electric Corp., Rochester, N.Y. Irwin Welber — named associate executive director of Toll Transmission, Bell Laboratories, Andover, Mass.

'51 Robert P. Benedict — granted the ASTM Award of Merit and named a Fellow of the American Society for Testing and Materials. Col. Lynwood E. Clark (USAF) — awarded the Legion of Merit. Lt. Col. Walter A. Fred (USA) — presented with the Department of the Army's Meritorious Service Medal. Wesley L. Howarth — named advisory engineer, thermo-fluids development, advanced reactors division, Westinghouse Electric Corp., Pennsylvania. Fred C. Leavitt — appointed manager of the Midland Divisions of Dow Chemical U.S.A.'s Analytical Laboratories, Michigan. William A. Northrop — appointed manager of heat exchangers and pressurizers engineering, General Electric's machinery apparatus operation. William S. Ziegfeld — named manager of product packaging and handling for Armstrong Cork Co., Lancaster, Pa.

'52 Capt. Carl Alberts (USNR) — promoted to commander of the Fourth Naval Construction Regiment. Howard C. Curtiss, Jr. — promoted to professor of aerospace and mechanical sciences, Princeton University. John C. Fellows, Jr. — elected to the Board of Directors, The First National Bank of Toms River, N.J. Charles E. Lewis — appointed to a newly created position of industrial engineering manager, Appleton Coated Paper Co., Appleton, Wis. James F. Morrill — elected president and chief executive officer of Continental Steel Corp., Kokomo, Ind. Gerard V. Tremblay — will become responsible for all sales and manufacturing operations for Sprague Electric Co. in the European area.

'53 Andrew R. Ewing, Jr. — appointed executive director of Dalton, Little, Newport (architects, engineers and planners), and announces the opening of a new office on Third Ave., New York, N.Y. Daniel E. Moore — promoted by Ingersoll-Rand to the post of general manager, manufacturing and distribution, for the firm's tool and hoist division, East Brunswick, N.J. Costas D. Papaliolios — became professor of physics, Harvard University. Charles M. Pomeroy — appointed administrative director, Wells Aluminum Corp., a subsidiary of Revere Copper and Brass Incorporated. Thomas Proctor, Jr. — developed a method to improve the accuracy of which the speed of sound in solids can be determined, National Bureau of Standards.

'54 Herbert Marx — appointed associate physician in the Department of Internal Medicine, Bassett Hospital, Cooperstown, N.Y. Bernard F. Meyer — elected vice president and general manager of the industrial ceramics division of Norton Co., Green Island, N.Y.

'55 Richard L. Maher — appointed vice president and project general manager of Colorado City, Great Western Cities' 10,000 acre community. George K. Sneden, Jr. — appointed as chief engineer, Tenney Engineering, Union, N.J.

'56 Hugh C. Crall — received the juris doctor degree, Suffolk University. Robert V. Klint — joined the staff at the General Electric Research and Development Center, Niskayuna, N.Y.

'57 George L. Beierling, Jr. — named vice president of operations of Sanders & Thomas of New York, Inc., Massapequa, N.Y. Thomas G. Ferguson — appointed technical associate to the business products group in the photographic technology division of Eastman Kodak Company's film manufacturing plant.

'58 John Moffa — promoted to manager of shop operations for the Industrial Semiconductor Product Section, GE. John T. Rossello — appointed to the Board of Directors of Cincinnati Time Recorder, Inc. Lewis B. Stone — designated to be in charge as chairman of the State Consumer Protection Board pending choice of a successor. Theodore R. Touw — awarded a doctor of philosophy degree in solid state science and technology by Syracuse University.

'59 William E. Cutcliffe — appointed to the office of president, James H. Dunn and Associates, Inc. of Averill Park, N.Y. John L. Weber — promoted to senior programmer, IBM's Kingston Laboratory. Roger Wolfe — named divisional vice president for research and development, The Hilton-Davis Chemical Company, a division of Sterling Drug Inc. Maj. Edward F. Young (USAF) — entered the Air Force Institute of Technology, Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

'60 Irwin L. Neulight — promoted to manager - international marketing, Steuber Co., Inc., New York, N.Y. K. Bradley Paxton — received a Ph.D. in electrical engineering, University of Rochester and is presently employed as project physicist in the Kodak Apparatus Division Research Laboratory, Rochester, N.Y.

'61 Robert Burger — appointed as assistant campaign director of the Tioga United Fund, Tioga Center, N.Y. Lawrence R. McMullen — named chairman of the audit and report division for the 1972 United Fund campaign.

'62 Jesse Aronstein — promoted to senior engineer at International Business Machines Corp.'s Components Division facility at East Fishkill, N.Y. Richard A. Maitland — named a partner in the architectural firm of The Perkins and Will Partnership, White Plains, N.Y. E. Harry Law — received the Ph.D. degree in applied mechanics at the University of Connecticut. Robert P. Yunick — appointed assistant director of research for Schenectady Chemicals, Inc., Schenectady, N.Y.

'63 F.R. Curd — promoted to the General Motors personnel staff, Detroit, Mich. Raymond T. Greer — promoted to associate professor of nuclear engineering at Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa. William P. Peterson — elected president, Case and Company, Inc., management consultants, Chicago, Ill.

'64 Kenneth A. Geremia — promoted to area sales manager of the Agent & Distributor Sales Operation, GE, Miami, Fla. J.A. Slezak — awarded a postdoctoral award for work in theoretical chemistry at Syracuse University. Richard E. Thomas — elected secretary of the Eastern New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

'65 Arnold J. Aho — appointed assistant professor of architecture in the School of Design of North Carolina State University. Gary D. Mather (USA) — promoted to captain, Army Material Command in Washington, D.C. Richard R. Veronesi — appointed assistant to the dean of the School of Engineering at Western New England College. Douglas S. Wilcox — named district manager, Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.

Chaptergraphs

Historic Gadsby's Tavern in Old Alexandria, Va., provided the setting for the District of Columbia Chapter Christmas party on Dec. 17.

On December 29, the New York City Chapter held a reception for area RPI students at the United Engineering Center in Manhattan. The meeting provided the opportunity for the Alumni to gain a better perspective of student sentiment at RPI and to get potential members interested in alumni activities.

The Dec. 29 meeting of the Rensselaer Club of South Florida was held at the Reef Restaurant in Ft. Lauderdale. From their first freshman scholarship winners the alumni heard impressions of the first semester at Rensselaer.

Dr. Stephen W. Yerazunis, associate dean of the School of Engineering, spoke on "Technology for Tomorrow" at the annual Christmas dinner of the Central New York Chapter at LeMoyné Manor in Liverpool on Dec. 28.

The Buffalo Chapter held its annual alumni-student luncheon on Dec. 27 at the University Club of Buffalo.

The Rensselaer Club of Chicago, New York City Chapter, Pittsburgh Chapter and Philadelphia Chapter welcomed Pres. Richard Grosh to speak about the present and future of Rensselaer at their December meetings. Dr. Grosh also obtained many of the alumni's attitudes towards RPI.

Members of the Hudson-Mohawk Chapter closed out 1971 activities on December 30. Following an early dinner, guests assembled at the RPI Field House to see the final game of the RPI Hockey Tournament.

Phi Tau Wins Award

An RPI fraternity has been named "outstanding chapter" by its national fraternity. The Rho chapter of Phi Kappa Tau received the honor at the fraternity's fourth annual Impact banquet at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in August.

Bickerstaff

I met a young man the other day and he told me a rather harrowing tale. A senior at Wulp High School, he had been advised that, since he was not a sports star or the cream of the academic crop, he had better start working now to gain acceptance to a college.

"You're not going to be in any great demand," they told him, "so send in applications to forty or fifty colleges."

He did, and for several weeks he heard nothing. Then a sort of commotion began. It began in the persons of three alumni from Attila the Hun Tech who paid a call on the boy to tell him of the wonders of their school days. They reminisced over that wonderful year 1948 at Attila for hour after hour until the boy sought refuge in bed, leaving the three midway through their fourth chorus of "We love thee, proud Attila."

Next morning as he left the house he was collared by a representative from Slats

College who described the pastoral pleasures of a rural college — all the way to school and into the boy's homeroom class. The representative kept talking until asked to leave by the homeroom teacher.

Later in the morning the boy was called to the office of the principal who opened the conversation: "I've just found out you've made application to attend my alma mater, Sameto U. Let me tell you what a wise choice you've made." And he did, for two hours.

On the way home: "Hi, remember me? Scoutmaster Ferdie. My you've shot up. All set for college, huh? I understand you're interested in Death Valley Institute. When I think of my days there, tears come. . . ."

At home: "Son, the nicest man came to see me today. He's from Burning Gourd College. And he said that if you went to school there, he'd personally watch over you for me."

And it got worse. At a three minute car wash, just before the car was pulled into the suds, a man hopped in. "Hi. Got a minute to talk about Lamont Cranston College?"

And at a local theatre as twenty desperados tried without luck to dispose of John Wayne: "Care for some popcorn? Let me tell you a little about Felix the Cat Memorial College."

The boy continually glanced over his shoulder as he talked to me: "I don't know what to do. They're everywhere. I can't go home. Someone from Hiawatha College has a tent on my front lawn. The guy from Hammerhead University is renting our guest room. At this very moment, the representative from Malaria U. is shining all my shoes.

"Everyone I know has endorsed a school. They guaranteed my girl friend that if I went to Cactus College I'd propose during my freshman year. What can I do? Where can I hide?"

"You can certainly stay here for a while," I offered. "You'll be safe here. And since we're on the subject, let me tell you a little about RPI."

enough ahead to realize that it wasn't going to work out. But to leave Rensselaer was to admit failure, so I looked for another curriculum that suited me better."

For McIntosh it was the right decision; he found management engineering to be just the ticket. He feels his education was excellent although he admits that half of it was the result of such extracurricular activities as writing for the Poly, serving as class president and serving as president of Phalanx, at that time one of the most important groups on campus.

After leaving RPI, McIntosh went to work as an industrial engineer for Proctor & Gamble. The company gave responsibility in a hurry and he quickly moved up and through divisions manufacturing such familiar items as cake mixes, shortenings and oils. A few years later he was assigned to the new Clorox plant in New Jersey with the task of making it run smoothly. He found by accomplishing his task he was running out of things to do and was getting bored.

He first looked for another job in manufacturing. But one night a friend convinced him to try the Plaza, then searching for an industrial engineer. He joined the hotel as assistant director for management services.

The Plaza is the grande dame of hotels. At age 65, it is one of the oldest hotels in New York City and is worth about $30 million. It sits on what is thought to be New York's prime piece of real estate, overlooking Central Park from 59th Street. A city ordinance protects the hotel as a landmark.

On a typical day the list of guests is an interesting blend of visiting statesmen, corporate presidents and celebrities. Maria Callas and Darryl Zanuck are permanent residents; Abba Eban stays there; and Julie Nixon had her wedding reception there.

Robert McIntosh who is now rooms division manager says that a hotel isn't that much different than a company like P&G. "Take a restaurant (the Plaza has seven), for instance. The kitchen produces food just as a factory produces soap or anything else. There's no warehouse — hopefully the holding time is only ten minutes or so before the product gets to the consumer. But it's basically the same."

It's also different. One of the things McIntosh particularly enjoys about the hotel business is the fact that he's there when the customer uses the product and can evaluate its quality.

And it's an exciting business — particularly at a hotel like the Plaza. In addition to resident celebrities and VIP dinners, there are often the difficult and complicated preparations for state visits such as the king of Morocco or the way to get a celebrity such as Elizabeth Taylor through the lobby without harassment from newsmen and stargazers.

"I find it especially exciting to be part of the planning for the future of the hotel," he says. "I think one of my favorites was to see a storeroom become the hotel's seventh restaurant, the Oyster Bar and to be a part of every stage of its development."

It's this and the other concerns of management that really turn him on. "Management is the same whether you're managing RPI, IT&T or the Plaza. I consider myself a manager first, a hotel man second and an engineer third — a human engineer, that is."

"Beyond that . . . I'm vain enough to think I'm a good teacher. I like the academic atmosphere and someday I'd like to teach management based on practical experience. Too many managers throw the book away after leaving school. I'd hope that I could teach what a mistake that is."

Engineer Hockey:

RPI's 8-2 ECAC Tournament loss to Boston University was the finale of what was an exciting, up-and-down season. A mid-season binge saw the Engineers win seven in a row, while going down to defeat in four of their last six games. Even so, two major goals were met: first, RPI was selected for the ECAC playoffs. Second, in the final year of formal ICAC competition with Clarkson and St. Lawrence, the Engineers have retired the conference trophy with several fine performances against the upstate rivals.

It was the second consecutive year that RPI drew BU in the ECAC quarter-finals. As in the two previous RPI-BU encounters this year, the teams played quite evenly in the early stages. But the Engineers were eventually overtaken by the defending NCAA champions' offensive power.

The Engineers were not without con-

Goodyear Unveils Lacrosse Prospects for 1972

Although graduation took last year's starting defense and goalie, third year coach Al Goodyear feels that the Engineers are headed toward another successful season. Several veteran performers from last year's 7-5 team will join new talent to confront a challenging schedule.

Goodyear plans to start Doug Zeffing and Ken Mendel in the attack positions vacated by Bob Evans, last year's leading scorer, and Russ Croce, the top point-getter in 1971. Zeffing and Mendel were among the top reserves last season. Freshman Kirk Woodward will also play regularly.

Midfield is a different story, with last year's starting trio of Dick Knapp, Rick Tarnow and Len Poch returning. Second midfielders Mark Bilansky and Rick Marra will be joined by Ward Hickman from last season's third midfield. Jerry Jacobs, Mark Bradley and Don Allocco are expected to make up the third midfield. Sophomores Tom Eckhardt, Paul Lapira, Mike Perri, and Barry Miller and freshman Steve Serina complete the midfield corps.

The defense will be led by senior Gary Cluen and sophomore Jim Hild, and shift of John McQuade from midfield will add speed and experience to the defense. Other promising defensemen are sophomore Dave Lucas, and freshmen Mark Lombardi and Charlie Vittl.

Three men are vying for the starting goalie position. Goodyear rates reserve Joe Zirrolli as having the best chance, followed by converted defensemen Steve Harding and freshman Rob Reach.

Two new opponents and two "old" opponents highlight the schedule. In the season opener, RPI meets Washington College of Chestertown, Maryland for the first time. The Engineers then journey to Duke for the first RPI-Duke contest in 15 years. Another long-term layoff will be ended when RPI meets Ithaca for the first time since 1951. RIT is the second newcomer to the schedule.

Goodyear anticipates stiff competition both inside and outside the ICAC. Among the highly regarded conference opponents are Hobart, Ithaca and St. Lawrence. Strong outside opposition is anticipated from Cortland, Syracuse and Duke.

Two Get Pro Soccer Bids

RPI seniors Gerry Mitchell and Casey Trappenburg were among 35 collegiate soccer players drafted by the North American Soccer League. Mitchell went to the St. Louis Stars in the ninth round while Trappenburg was drafted in the fourth by the Rochester Lancers.

Mitchell is a 6-0, 165 pound halfback from St. Louis, Missouri. Coach Al Goodyear has described Gerry as "the most underrated player in the East."

Trappenburg, a 5-7, 155 pound forward from Stamford, N.Y., was an All-American selection in 1970 when he recorded 10 goals and 18 assists.

... we are strong enough to withstand the storms coming in the next decade.

gether, and I think that is what we all have to do as we look down the road.

And now I would like to turn to the future. A lot of people have lost faith in private education, and a lot of people are saying it has gone downhill. They may be right. However, I'm optimistic about RPI, or I wouldn't have come.

We have got a lot of things going for us here. Here at RPI for the last 15 years, we have had a very, very high quality student body. Student SAT scores have averaged 1300 and psychologists would say that when we have a normal distribution about this point that 85 percent of our students should be able to master the abstractions of science, engineering, management, architecture — and fully 50 percent of this group should be able to go on for their Ph.D. degree. And probably 10 or 15 percent of the original group will be capable of those Innovations and those discoveries that can mark a whole decade. So, this is a very precious resource we have and is one that is going to challenge all of us over the next few years.

A second thing we have going for us is that fact that we are about of optimum size — we have approximately 5,000 students, and studies of universities of much larger size indicate that unit costs per student don't go down. Indeed universities of much larger size have great problems.

Further, we are very strong financially — enough to withstand the storms that are going to come in the next decade.

And finally, the other strength that we have here at RPI is that we seem to be continuing the policy of not being all things to all people. I don't think we can do that Baseball fans were talking about Babe Ruth's .378 batting average and taking bets on his chances of breaking his own home-run record (he did, but not this year). Rensselaer was creating its own excitement the year members of the Class of '24 received their diplomas. The school was preparing to cap its first hundred years with a celebration that would attract an international guest list including an engineer on his way to the top, Herbert Hoover. Seniors in 1924 missed rising costs by just a semester as tuition rates soared to $300 a year.

Bickerstaff

RPI has solved its annual commencement dilemma through the selection of an impressive guest list; other schools have not been so fortunate. At one school, I sat in on a meeting of the Committee for a Relevant Commencement, and their dilemma went something like this:

"Gentlemen, we're faced with an almost impossible task. We must plan a commencement that means something and yet not offend anyone."

"Today, everything and everyone offends somebody."

"That's true yet we must assemble a guest list. Now I suggest that balance be our guiding principle. For every pro we also have a con; for every left, a right; for every here, a there."

"I have an inoffensive list of names —

Ted Angell has deserted northern big business for Southern ecology and the good life. He has taken over a fishing and hunting resort in central Fla. called Cross Creek Lodge. Black bass is the best anywhere, Ted writes. He has become active in all the local ecology groups to "conserve what we have." Ted suggests a vacation at the Lodge in Hawthorne, Fla. Barbara Powers Bailey is the mother of three girls and is devoting all her spare time to community activities. Barbara's a member of the local Rescue Squad and a First Aid Instructor with the Red Cross. Barbara sends us all this message, "being a professional volunteer has its plus values, especially when you can feel that someone is a little better off because you cared just a little. I doubt that my former employer needs me that much." Bruce Cameron is programmer for G.E.'s Heavy Military Electronics division in Syracuse. His oldest child is (if you believe it) now in college. Bruce tells us he sees Bill Webster and Augie Albanese regularly. Pete Conti is prof. at the Univ. of Colorado in Boulder. Pete's work is in astronomy and astrophysics where his academic appointment is divided between depts. of Physics, Astrophysics and Astrogeophysics. ("It's all confusing," Pete adds.) He invites everyone out for a visit but asks that we not stay "and overcrowd" the state. Paul DuMortier is an industrial engineer with Beech Nut in Canajoharie, N.Y. He makes his home with wife, Henrietta, and sons, John Paul and Andre, in Palatine Bridge, N.Y. A. G. Gross is presently associated with Bell Labs., Murray Hill, N.J. Crispin C. Hall, Jr. has been elected to the board of trustees at Vanderheyden Hall, Inc. in Troy, N.Y. Marv Menzlin is president of Design Technology Corp., Burlington, Mass. His company specializes in machine and product design. Marv's wife, Margaret, is chairman of the math dept. at Simmons College and they also just found time to have a daughter, Eleanor. Marv urges all classmates coming through Boston to look him up. Barry Steinberg complains that he keeps writing to us and has yet to appear in a newsletter. The Troy gremlins must be stealing his letters. Barry is bridge engineer for Close, Jensen and Miller, consulting engineers in Wethersfield, Conn. He keeps in shape with basketball, softball, tennis and bowling. Barry is vice president of Temple Beth Shalom and has recently seen Chick Hefter, Joe Roher and Mel Hirsch (all '57). His firm recently hired a '72 grad of RPI. Paul Vosburgh is now vice president and director of Alcoa Construction Systems, Inc. where he manages Alcoa's Project Breakthrough program. They are finding new ways to use aluminum in construction. Paul, wife, Jane, and daughters, Susan and Kay, live in Murrysville, Pa. He was a delegate to the 1972 Republican Convention. That's all the news for now—keep those letters and cards coming folks.

It's news time again. First the good news. We had an excellent reunion in June thanks to Ron & Sue Gutmann's and Dan & Linda Hershberg's organizing skills and the good turnout of classmates. Almost 80 were at our class dinner and the talking and drinking went on into the wee hours. Was good to see old (but young looking!) friends again and start some new friendships as well. The bad news is that the hang-overs must still be in effect. Only have a few news items returned this time around. From Dan Banavige we hear of a new move to Atlanta where he's partner in a business handling air conditioning, heating and ventilating equipment. Dan had been with ITT in Detroit and had won a week's vacation in Jamaica for his sales excellence. Hope the new venture is as successful, Dan. Heard from George Dabb again whose work with On-Line Decision seems to take him from N.Y.C. to Calif. frequently. Is there business in the West, George, or is it just a way to play handball and lacrosse with your old cronie, Rod Palmberg? Bill Hawley wrote from Rochester about his surfing attempts in Hawaii last spring. Sorry you missed reunion, Bill. So did your friends whom you asked about in your note. Bob Johnson has finished the Brain-tree High School project he last wrote to us about and is now commuting to Worcester working on the U. Mass. teaching hospital, a project costing a cool $44,000,000. After a self-reported "silence of several years," Mike Kadish brought us up to date about his activities. As one of many engineering "drop-outs," he took an M.B.A. in marketing from N.Y.U. and worked for Kane-Miller, a diversified food company where classmate Howie Weinstein also works. But this past January Mike took the big plunge and started his own marketing consulting business (specializing in the food industry). We all wish you well, Mike. Ron Karp, also in the N.Y.C. area, is a Wall Street analyst and assistant VP. Won his M.A. from Penn last year. Ron offers news of Jeff Chance, who used to live next door but has now sought warmer climes in Miami where he's practicing cardiology. At the time Ron wrote his note he was planning a trip to Denmark to visit Al Adler and his family who are now Danish citizens. Let us hear from you about the trip now that you're back, Ron. If you're in the Albany area, tune in WHRL, FM and you'll hear Bob Levy's impact in stereo. Bob is chief engineer and co-founder of Regal Broadcasting which started WHRL in 1966. That's part-time, Bob also works for New York State, designing and evaluating all types of communication and audio-visual systems purchased by various state agencies. Another man who divides his energies is Dudley McIlheney whose work includes senior product manager of Clairol, VP of Sail-A-Season (N.Y. sailboat charter service) and director of sailing of the New York Sailing School. And as if that's not enough, Dudley reports his recent marriage to Sydney Mary Ward. When you go to see the movie "hospital," don't look for George C. Scott, but think of Norm Mazza. He's now interning at the Metropolitan Hospital Center in New York where the movie was shot. Congrats on finishing your M.D. at N.Y. Medical College, Norm, and we'll look for you at the next reunion. Marv Meistrich writes that he's left Toronto for Houston where he'll be asst. prof. of biophysics at the U. of Texas Hospital and Tumor Institute. Congrats on your second daughter, too, Marv. Gary L. Persip has been awarded an M.S. degree from Rutgers Univ.

Shael Shapiro must have an interesting scene in N.Y.C. Soho district where he has his own architectural office and is involved in converting loft buildings into artists' residences. In addition to working on legislation related to these activities, he's done various projects for John Lennon and Yoko Ono. Now there's a subject for the next Rensselaer "Profile"! Shael and his wife have a new son. Jay Winderman and spouse (who's completing her master's in library science) just came back East for a whirlwind tour through New York and New England. Jay enjoyed seeing friends, the Bob Levys and Bill Creamers ('64) during their trip. He's now back at General Dynamics in Pomona where he's a sr. research engineer. Wayne Wilhelm has been selected for inclusion in the publication, Outstanding Young Men of America. News from Canada is good (we beat the Russians!) and all is well with the DiStefanos. I'm still enjoying the teaching and research here and am starting to get heavily involved in management problems in cross-cultural situations. Hopeful that it will involve a fair amount of travel, so don't be surprised if I give you a call wherever you are.

It is pleasant and interesting to hear from some of you about the activities of your family, your hobbies, your job and your retirement plans. This sort of news brings one's memories back to the days at Troy and how we all managed to acquire some degree of education amidst the atmosphere of those times: the depression, prohibition, slot machines, 6th Avenue, rumble seats, soirees, proms and balls. We lived in dorms, rooming houses, fraternities and quite a few commuted from Albany, Lansingburg and other environs of the "collar city." Today we are so permissive in our education. Then it was by rote. We lived in the final years of the paternalistic management of our education by Doctor Ricketts. I often think of him as I read about the czar of the Olympics, Avery Brundage. They both were very dedicated to their causes. We are at a point in our lives where we have witnessed a considerable amount of history. We were involved in the transi-

LIFE INCOME GIFT INVESTMENT

. . . These four words sum up the most important points we can make about a charitable remainder trust at Rensselaer.

Many alumni and friends have discovered how a Life Income Gift Investment offers significant benefits for themselves as well as for the university.

For example, this deferred giving method allows your gift to grow over the years while providing a lifetime income to you and your beneficiary. Tax savings reduce the net cost of your gift and, depending on your circumstances, may carry additional benefits into your personal estate planning.

If you are contemplating a gift to Rensselaer of $1,000 or more, we'd like to send you information about the mutual benefits of Rensselaer's Life Income Pooled Fund — a fine way to give and to receive.

Tell me more about a Life Income Gift Investment.
